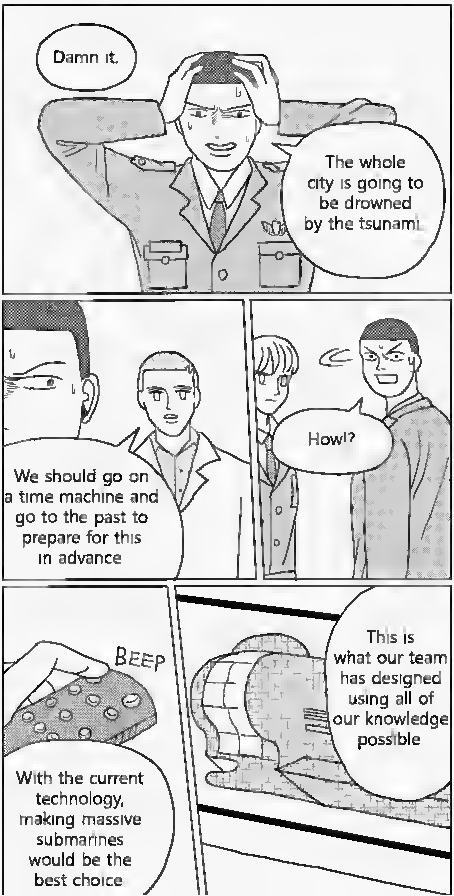
10th Dimension Boys

115. One Last Hope



Damn it.
The whole city is going to be drowned by the tsunami
We should go on a time machine and go to the past to prepare for this in advance
Howl?
BEEP
With the current technology, making massive submarines would be the best choice
This is what our team has designed using all of our knowledge possible

Few of these could carry 99% of the world's population
However since they are very massive, making these would take a very long time
That's why I suggest going 30 years back with the time machine
Alright. Let's do that then
But we haven't invented a time machine

By Cutbu

Doing the easy part first.